Two Grunthal residents honored for citizenship

Two Grunthal residents have received Global Citizenship Awards for their work in the community from the Manitoba Council for International Cooperation (MCIC). Jennifer Lehman, a teacher at Green Valley School, was one of four Manitoba educators to receive the honor. Also receiving the award was Jasmine Wiens, a graduating student at Green Valley, along with three other students in the province. Both awards were based on several projects initiated by the recipients at their school.

Lehman initiated a social justice club at her school which has helped to establish a food bank, started a student breakfast program, raised funds for a village in Kenya adopted through Free the Children and has led professional development workshops for the division on sustainable development and global citizenship. Wiens helped to establish Grunthal Caring Hands Food Bank, led education events and fund-raisers for a clean water project in Eor Ewauaso, Kenya through Free the Children and helped to found a social justice club at Green Valley School.

This year MCIC launched the Global Citizenship Award for Educators to recognize Manitoba teachers and administrators, nominated by their peers and students, who are leaders in promoting and supporting active global citizenship. The four students winners were selected from applications from across the province and were honoured for taking action as global citizens. Through their local and global actions, MCIC said these students are changing and improving the lives of hundreds including children, youth, people with disabilities and those living in poverty beyond our borders.
